The goal of the Counselor-in-Training (CIT) program at Camp Flair and Camp Sycamore is to provide interested adolescents with an opportunity to develop leadership skills in a comfortable atmosphere under the supervision of a dedicated CIT Coordinator. The program is designed to give students entering ninth and tenth grades a base of understanding about youth leadership, health, safety, and program planning.

Led by the CIT Coordinator, CITs work as a team, in small groups, and individually learn about aspects of working with young children in a day camp environment.

Students engage in various team-building activities and experience life skills that can be applied to their school life or any job setting.

CITs are also provided with opportunities to plan activities and practice teaching skills while interacting directly with younger campers under the supervision of a Head Counselor. Regular goal setting, assessment, and evaluations are also essential components throughout the program.

CITs may participate up to eight weeks during our summer program. You may choose two weeks or all eight. However you must make a commitment regarding the specific weeks you will work upon registration. Please note that there are only a limited amount of CIT positions available per session. Hours are from 8:30-4:30 each day and CITs must be available for a full day’s participation every day of their week assignment.

CIT Application Process. Only a select number of applicants will be chosen to participate in the program. The selection process includes the submission of two references and a possible interview. Registrations are due no later than May 8, 2020. If space remains in the program additional applications will be considered.
